  <h1>Sofia Gelashvili</h1>
  <h2>Dreaming about CS major | Class of 2027</h2>

  Hello everyone!
  I am Sofia. I moved to the US 3 years ago and started my High School career.
  This year I took a Computer Programming class and discovered something new for me
  (I learned C++ basics but I hate pointers).

  <h1>My Projects</h1>
  Here are some of the projects I have worked on or plan to build as I grow as a CS student.

  <!-- Project 1 -->

    <h2>Personal Portfolio Website</h2>
    This multi-page website is my final project for Intro to Web Design.

I built it using only HTML and CSS to practice structure, tables, forms, and styling.

I learned how to organize content across pages and make a clean navigation system.

<ul>
  <li>Created five linked HTML pages</li>
  <li>Styled everything with one external CSS file</li>
  <li>Used tables, lists, forms, and semantic tags</li>
</ul>

<hr>
```

<!-- Project 2 -->

  <h2>C++ Password Evaluator</h2>
  In my Computer Programming class I wrote small programs in C++.
  I practiced loops, conditionals, functions, and basic data structures.
  Working with pointers was the hardest part for me.

  <ul>
    <li>Password analysis</li>
    <li>Bonus scoring</li>
    <li>Random suggestion</li>
  </ul>

<hr>
```

<!-- Project 3 -->

  <h2>Fishing Charters Website</h2>
  My friend asked me to create a professional website for his private fishing trips to attract more clients. To make the site look professional, I put my skills to work and used ChatGPT to learn JavaScript and a little bit of CSS.

  <ul>
    <li>Booking form</li>
    <li>Gallery</li>
